Course/Seminar title: Models for Global Mission and Evangelism

Leader & Dates: Rev. Samuel Moffet and Ronald White Nov. 7-10, 1988

We very much appreciate any comments and suggestions from study program participants, as these help us in our program planning.

The two lecturers presented their subject always in complimentary with each other. A very good example of one goal and target. Of course their expertise is evident. Communication is best when important points are written.

The seminar last week - from Carey to Kraemer was a good background for this week's seminar. It is therefore easier to understand this week's seminar. More inputs were stressed in the 18th, 19th, 20th century missionary activities. The models presented were very clear and well understood. I like the clear-cut answer of Dr. Moffet's on questions from the floor. He has no reservation now saying the strength & weakness of a denomination on any period of history.
